Femicide in Turkey

Speaker: Ihsan Cetin is the Associate Professor of Sociology in Namik Kemal University in Tekirdağ, Turkey.

He holds a PhD in Sociology from University of Ege, Izmir.

Description: Dr. Cetin will discuss the problem of femicides in Turkey, placing it in a global context. He will focus on the following topics: The Istanbul Convention, statistics on femicides, different forms of femicides, social causes of it, legal legislation and other measures taken to prevent femicides. He will discuss the women's movement and the changing status of women in Turkey, and in relation to this, the phenomenon that he has labelled "Revolt Killings," which he suggests constitutes a significant part of today's femicides of Turkey.

September 11 | 12 PM | 306 Coble Hall and on Zoom.

Disasters and Social Change

In this talk, Jordan Pascoe draws on the resources of feminist philosophy to explore how disasters trigger social change- in both progressive and authoritarian ways. By examining how people learn from one another in disaster contexts, and how this learning can shift longstanding practices of collective knowing, she explores how and why disasters generate social change, and how disaster policy can shape that social change.

SGA YOUTH & FAMILY SERVICES

BREAK THE SILENCE, STOP THE VIOLENCE!

Using an evidence-informed curriculum, this prevention program will describe what gender-based violence is and provide participants with the knowledge and skills to eliminate gender-based violence from their communities.

By creating a judgement-free space, participants will discuss:

- Consent
- Gender and gender identity
- Healthy boundaries/communication
- Teen dating violence
- Bystander intervention skills
- Power and privilege
- Dangers of social media
- Sexual assault
- Signs of human trafficking

Connecting participants to community resources that provide assistance to youth is a key program component.

Open to residents in the communities of:

BRIGHTON PARK GAGE PARK ARCHER HEIGHTS
SOUTH LAWDALE FULLMAN ROSELAND

Available in English and Spanish
