Creating a Sense of University Belonging for Latino/Latina Students

Our objective is to promote a sense of belonging among Latino/Latina students. Sense of belonging is a context-based basic human need that consists of being an accepted member of a group. It is associated with important life outcomes (e.g., academic performance, psychological wellbeing). We will learn about the nuances of developing a sense of belonging and evaluate aspects that have been successful within the University of Illinois System in creating a sense of belonging among Latino/Latina students.

Creating sustainable solutions to foster sense of belonging

Focusing attention on sense of university belonging among Latino/Latina students

Illuminating contemporary sense of belonging research

Illinois Mexican and Mexican-American Students Initiative (I-MMÁS) presents:
Creating a Sense of University Belonging for Latino/Latina Students

November 10 | Thursday | 9 am - 1 pm

I-MMÁS represents a culture of support, building pipelines for Mexican and Mexican American students, smoothing the path, and retaining as many talented students as possible. Read more here

Digitizing Ethically

Friday | November 11 | 12pm CST
via Zoom

Hosted by the HRI Research Cluster on the Social Lives of Digitized Culture

How do we create digital cultural heritage resources in conversation with communities? Join us for a discussion of the concerns of doing history in a digital age and working with community partners as they preserve their own stories. Two recommended readings will frame our conversation about how to promote equity, access, and inclusion through digital archives. We'll also discuss strategies used by activists and community organizers to overcome these challenges. Anyone interested in public history, community archives, collecting, or research is encouraged to join us!

Suggested readings:

- Zaagsma, Gerben. "Digital History and the Politics of Digitization." Digital Scholarship in the Humanities, 2022, vol. 37, no. 3, pp. 1-22. <https://doi.org/10.1093/llc/fqac050>
